

EASTMAN RECEIVES HONOR

John Eastman, Salinas J.C. student body president, was elected Central California vice-president in the California Junior College Student Government Confederation last week at the conference in San Francisco.

There are three sections in the Confederation, one for each of Northern, Central, and Southern California, and each section has a vice-president, which is the highest elected position, the president being the student body president of the college hosting the conference.

There are 16 junior colleges in the Central California section extending from Ventura to Salinas and including the San Joaquin Valley.

The next meeting of the Confederation will be held at the Los Angeles City College, in Los Angeles, sometime in the coming spring.

COMMISSION DISCUSSES WINTER BALL

The main topic of discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Student Commission was the time and place at which to hold the Annual Winter Ball. It was definitely decided that the affair will be held either at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club or the Rio Del Mar on the evening of December 19.

It was also decided that the price of bids would be at least $7 and perhaps more.

The commissioners, a few of whom were in attendance, also appropriated money to take a group of performers to Menlo as an exchange measure for a similar group who have come to Salinas to perform to promote interest in tonight's football game.

Commissioners have also acquired a brass spittoon over which it is hoped a perpetual rivalry will develop between our two schools such as the one between Purdue and the University of Indiana over their Old Oaken Bucket.

Among the Salinas students going to Menlo will be Vice-President Charles Mornard and Phil Cordrey of the Commission, Rich Rampone, team captain of the week, Margaret Melrose, Lily Perez, and several others.

President John Eastman announced that two trophies, one for the game and one for the winning float were acquired. The game trophy was donated by Goodfriend Jewelers, and will be known as the Goodfriend trophy.

Stanford Debate Team Scores Win Over Local Pair

John Hines and Jack Marcum of Stanford carried back to the farm the debating honors Monday. Their worthy opposition, Clarence "Webster" Brown and Ray Marnach, representing S.J.C., held their grounds on the negative side of the question, making it a difficult task for the judges.

The battle of the silver tongues was on: "Resolved that the several states should enact legislation providing for a system of complete medical services available to all citizens at public expense." Jim Heisinger was chairman of the war of words.

Judges were Cam Armor, Dick Rohrbacher, and Mrs. James Wells, former college debater and wife of one of our English instructors. The audience was composed of Miss Fraser's public speaking classes and interested students.

Hail The Queen

Nadine Conger, Monterey beauty reigns today as Homecoming Queen at S.J.C. Her court attendants are Honey Harris, Barbara Timmins, Margaret Melrose, and Geneva Bottian.

Jeffers Cartoons Contributed For Alumni Issue

Students who attended S.J.C. last year will have no trouble recognizing the two cartoons that appear in today's issue of The Panther Sentinel. They are the work of Finis Jeffers who served as staff cartoonist on last year's Sentinel staff.

Finis is now carrying on his own printing business on the Monterey Peninsula and from all indications is doing a thriving business.

We would like to take this opportunity to express our thanks to Jeff for his fine cartoons which he so generously contributed to our homecoming edition of The Panther Sentinel.

We have high hopes of being able to secure some more of Jeff's cartoons from time to time.

Conger Named Queen

Nadine Conger, Monterey, was crowned as Homecoming Queen this morning. She will reign over Homecoming activities today, assisted by her court of four attendants.

Election of the queen by students earlier in the week was reported by Dr. Luella Hall and Mr. Clifford Swanson as the closest contest they have witnessed at the junior college. Leading candidates were separated by only one vote.

At 11 o'clock this morning, the queen was announced to the student body at a special assembly. Tony Mercante, former student body president and member of homecoming committee, crowned the reigning beauty after a sealed envelope containing the name of the lucky miss was handed to him.

Details of the election have been closely guarded with only Dr. Luella Hall, Mr. Stuart Dufour, and Mr. Clifford Swanson knowing the name of the winner until the information was disclosed this morning.

CONTESTANTS ON FLOAT

All five of the final contestants will ride on a float in this afternoon's parade which is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock. Classes will be dismissed after 2 to enable students to view the parade which will follow a route down Main Street.

Approximately 14 floats will be entered for judging in the parade this afternoon. Judges for the event will be Mr. J. Frederic Ching, Salinas city superintendent of schools, Mr. George Taylor, mayor of Salinas; Willard Branson, president of J.C. Alumni Association; Mr. Joe Juri, president of the Salinas Chamber of Commerce; and Judge C. S. Sorensen, police judge. Two bands will be featured in the parade, Salinas J.C. band and Gonzales High School band.

MENLO GAME TONIGHT

Events of the evening are the football game with Menlo J.C. followed by a homecoming dance sponsored by the social activities committee. Admission to the dance will be $1 per couple; 65 cents stag.

All money taken in at the homecoming dance will go into a student union fund which is being handled by a newly appointed board of directors. The members of the board are Dr. Luella Hall, Mr. Henry Cassidy, Frank Stone, John Vucina, Willard Branson, Ralph Thomsen, who represent the J.C. faculty, student body, and alumni association.

An alumni association trophy will be presented to the outstanding Salinas player of the game at the dance.

Enjoying the luxurious setting of Hotel Rio Del Mar is Helen M. Papac while she carries out her interesting duties as reservation clerk and secretary of that widely known resort. Incidentally, Helen attended school here 1943-44, and remains solo, yet.

Keeping the books for the T. J. Matulich Company, a produce firm doing business in Watsonville and El Centro, is Kay Gfrorer who also attended 1943-44. During the cool climes of winter, she enjoys the salubrious temperatures of El Centro — also a singlet, fellows.

Mary Golden, class of '45, has married, and is the proud mother of a cute baby girl. She is now Mrs. Bob Eggert and they have recently moved to Kansas.

John Condon attended Salinas Junior College last year and is now at Whittier College, Whittier, California.

Former students John Edward Laughton and his wife, the former Lorna Kueber, are now living in Soledad, California. On May 7, 1947, they became the proud parents of a son, John Stephen.

After graduating from S.J.C. in 1942, Fred Weybret continued his journalistic interests and is now working for the Evening Observer in LaGrande, Oregon.

Yvonne Swenson, who attended S.J.C. for a while last year, is now located at the St. Mary's College of Nursing in San Francisco.

Marilyn Trotts, class of '45, is now Mrs. C. Hoedemake and is making her home in Holland. Brother Bill Trotts is attending S.J.C. at present.

Richard Willis is now coaching at Porterville Junior College after completing his education at J.C.

Gilding the office of Attorney Walker of Salinas is last year's graduate Ruth McBride of Aptos. Ruth really enjoys the local college as she is a frequent visitor.

Pat Silacci, '47, is now bookkeeper and stenographer for Bertlesman's Market, Salinas.

Stenographing for the County Purchasing office in Salinas is Irene Guidotti, graduate of '47.

Rosie Ferrasci, '47, and Madeline Silva, '41, are employed by the A. V. Rianda Brokerage Co. of Salinas.

Being transcriber in the office of the Monterey County Court Reporter for the past few years is Dorothy Robinson, '41.

Another former coed working for an attorney is Florence Ash, '41. She is employed by Attorney Murphy, Salinas.

Likewise, down Soledad way is Barbara Morrison, who attended in '47, working for Attorney Smith as his secretary.

Recently married and working in the office of the highway patrol in Salinas is Genevieve Bin-sacca, '40.

Keeping books for Anthony Petti Furniture store in Salinas is Joan Peterson, who attended in '47.

Thomas Young of Gilroy, who graduated in '41, is attending to the bookkeeping chores for Walter S. Markham brokerage office in Salinas. He recently acquired a bride, May Lee Lew of this city.

Another '41 grad, Betty King, who received her degree from U.C., Berkeley, is now employed as bacteriologist and statistician for the Board of Health, State of California, with offices in San Francisco.

It appears that Dorothy J.

Mize, '45, has entered the business world with a flourish. She has set up office in Los Gatos as a public stenographer, and spends her spare time mingling with theater groups, etc.

Charles Shew, '41, attended Heald's Business College after leaving S.J.C., and then lent his services to Uncle Sam as an airplane mechanic with some time overseas. He has recently married his childhood sweetheart, and now manages a grocery store in Castroville.

Recent visitors at the junior college have been Bette Marshall, Adrienne Hall, Floyd Wilke, Willard Branson, Ralph Thomsen, Joan Woodward, Gloria Bencich, LeRoy Harder, Ramelle Chester Brown, Morton Stroh, Ray Pere and Irene Hurst. They dropped in recently to renew old acquaintances with students and faculty.

In Final Grid Game of the Season

Tonight's conference finale between the Salinas Junior College Panthers and the Menlo Oaks brings down the curtain on the 1947 football season. In a grand climax to a gala homecoming celebration, students, alumni, and Panther followers are expected to overflow the Salinas stadium for tonight's gridiron tussle.

Menlo will enter the fray with an unblemished record in league play, boasting six wins and one tie, that coming at the hands of the Vallejo squad with whom they now share the "B" division leadership in N.C.J.C.C. A loss in tonight's clash would knock the Oaks out of title contention and so there is little doubt that Coach Roy Hughes will have his charges keyed up for the Panther fracas.

Hughes can be remembered in these parts for his former coaching efforts at Monterey High School.

In addition to ending the 1947 season, tonight's game brings to a close the junior college football careers of Clarence Twitchell, Chet Garner, Richard Ryder, Russ Bohlke, Charlie Mornard, Don Napoli, John McPike, Arnold Hiserman, Earl Burns, Roy Williams, and Don Mitts. All of these men have played a vital part on this year's squad and it is a certainty that they will be out to leave a lasting impression on the followers of S.J.C. in the year's finale.

Students who were in school last year can recall the powerful Menlo eleven that stormed over Salinas in the first conference game of the year and then went on to tie with the Vallejo Redskins for the "B" division crown. This year's squad seems to be the equal of last year's outfit in all departments, and will no doubt prove to be the Panthers' toughest opponent of the season.

A terrific backfield trio, composed of Rupe Andrews, Dick

Calendar, and Bruce Van Alstyne, have proved to be the ruination of such Menlo foes as Napa, Marin, Placer, Yuba, San Mateo, and Santa Rosa. Andrews supplies the overhead attack with his brilliant passing while the overland attack features Calendar and Van Alstyne.

In an all-out attempt to provide one of the season's outstanding upsets, local mentor Bob Robinson will present an attack that features the tossing of Mornard, Twitchell, and Doyle Burnett, ably augmented by the hard running of Twitchell and Burnett in addition to the straight-ahead power of Russ Bohlke. Don Mitts, John Light, Dick Halward, Roy Parker and Stan Miller are other backfield men capable of piling up the yardage.

SALINAS ANNIHILATES SAN FRANCISCO ELEVEN

Ignoring the experts' prediction of a three touchdown victory for the San Francisco Rams, the Salinas Junior College Panthers eliminated the league leading city eleven by an overwhelming 27-7 in Balboa Stadium last Friday afternoon.

Doyle Burnett, hard-running Panther halfback, showed the famed San Francisco backs a bit of fancy sidestepping as he spearheaded the powerful Salinas attack. Using both the air and the ground, the local eleven swarmed all over the overrated San Francisco team.

NO CONTEST

From the beginning to end, the lighter, more aggressive Salinas line ripped huge holes in the San Francisco front line. It was an easy task for Burnett, Clarence Twitchell, Russ Bohlke, and Don Mitts to gallop through the bewildered and confident San Franciscans.

San Francisco managed to hold the Salinas eleven for the first quarter. That was all. Charlie Mornard flipped a pass to Twitchell for the first tally in the second period. Soon after, Burnett romped across for the second six points. The Panthers made it a walkaway with two more counters in the last quarter with Arnold Hiserman and Stan Miller notching up the tallies.

The vastly improved junior collegians ran roughshod over the highly touted San Francisco aggregation. Twice the Panthers missed near touchdowns on long passes in the opening period.

SECOND PERIOD SCORE

Determined to ring up six points, the locals set up the initial T.D. with a 45-yard pass play from Twitchell to George Franci.

Franci was halted on the San Francisco 15. Burnett ambled 11 yards to the 4. Three cracks at the line netted two yards with a pass from Mornard to Twitchell breaking the scoreless deadlock.

Only a few minutes later, Salinas drove relentlessly to pay territory on an 80-yard march. Burnett, Bohlke, and Mitts alternated carrying the pigskin with a few short passes by Mornard mixed in between. A flat pass from Mornard to Twitchell gobbled up the last 17 yards. Chet Garner connected for one of the two conversion tries.

It was just a question of how much the underdog Salinas crew would tally in the last half. The third touchdown came about on a 70-yard sustained drive with Bohlke's 21-yard ramble and Hiserman's two end-arounds paving the way. Hiserman sped the last 20 yards unmolested into paydirt on a beautifully executed end-around.

KREBS INTERCEPTS

Bob Krebs intercepted a Ram pass and returned to the 7 to enable the invaders to score their final six points. Miller crashed across for the touchdown from the 1. Garner converted both times.

San Francisco averted a shut-out with Mike Reilly intercepting a Salinas lateral and going 73 yards to a score.

Roy Melin, who is currently attending S.J.C., is married to Sybil Wells, and is the proud father of Gordon Alan, born last month in Santa Cruz.

Salinas Cagers Open Season

With the close of football, basketball immediately jumps into the headlines with Salinas J.C. playing its season opener on the evening of December 3 against Stanford Frosh at Stanford.

Coach Ed Adams will take his entire squad up to Stanford and plans to use as many players as possible in the game. It is not his object to win the game but rather to give everybody a chance to display their court ability.

Returning lettermen from last year's varsity, which won six of their 14 conference tilts, are Russ Bohlke, Dean Dillingham, Jim Blinkenberg, and Paul Miljanich. These four veterans should serve as a fine nucleus to this year's squad.

Dillingham, Bohlke, and Blinkenberg were near the top in the conference scoring race while Miljanich played impressive ball all though the season and displayed some keen point-getting ability at the season's close.

Adams has been holding informal practice sessions during the last two months and has been able to pick out some outstanding prospects for the coming season.

No starting line-up has been designated for the Stanford encounter but it is expected that the returning lettermen will get the starting call.

helped build the undefeated ARMY FOOTBALL TEAM

WEST POINT—molder of men and military leaders—slants the rigid training of all cadets toward health and physical fitness. Every cadet participates in some type of sport, constantly developing mental alertness and sound body, the first requirements for leadership.

Out of West Point has come one of the greatest football teams of all time, famous for its "touchdown twins" combination and undefeated in three years of play. MILK—nature's most nearly perfect food—helped build that team. It's a menu "must" on training tables throughout the Academy.

"Football players the world over, high school, college, or professional, are great milk drinkers and the cadets are no exception."

PARKER'S PARAGRAPHS

By JERRY PARKER

A number of J.C. womenfolk have been the victims of a survey conducted by a couple of characters of dubious scientific intent. Those of our girls who were interviewed constitute too long a list to enumerate here, but I shall let you in on the more outstanding answers.

The question asked was: "Why are you going to college?" Some of the prize answers were: "I want to have fun and get a man . . . I guess I'm looking for a man . . . So I can see men every day . . . I'm preparing for a bigger school where better men are found . . . I go to college because gullible men go to college . . . So I won't have to go to work . . . I want to learn about business men . . . I want to get an education . . . To find some chump who'll marry me . . . To become a teacher . . . I'm working for a Mrs. degree . . ."

Conductors of the survey found that 65 per cent of the women who were asked came to college to get a lead on a matrimonial prospect. A similar experiment at the University of California showed 80 per cent of their women came to school for this reason. This, according to the interviewers, proves that while only 20 per cent of the Cal. women are fibbers, 35 per cent of the femmes de Jaysee fall into this category . . . Looks like a tough situation for the men around this establishment.

THICK . . .

If you see people wandering around the campus holding their hands about a foot in front of their noses, don't think they're crazy . . . they are just trying to see their hands in front of their faces. . . . I'm seriously considering getting a pocketful of batteries and fastening a pair of yellow lights onto my ears . . . What I'm trying to explain is that it has (as you all know) been kinda foggy. We'd sure be in a fix if it froze . . . We'd have to chip our way to school with an icepick . . . yet.

THAT'S A JUKE, SON . . .

I don't like to sound bitter, but why must those people who choose the new records for the juke box go back to the turn of the century for material? Music seems to be keeping pace with women's fashions . . .

Irene Hurst has completed nurses' training and plans to work in surgery at the U.C. Hospital.

Janice Smith is married to S.J.C. student, Walt Trotter. They became parents of a son, Mark, on November 4, 1947.

Glenn Eckman, who was better known in his years at J.C. as "Tiny," is now on the University of California campus at Berkeley. Since his graduation from S.J.C., he has taken up electrical engineering as his major.

Norman Cissna is attending Hastings College of Law and working with the Federal Bureau of Investigation at the same time in San Francisco.

Jerry Mullen of Gilroy, after years in the navy, is currently owner of a fountain lunchroom, "El Rancho Mexicano," near Gilroy. He is also owner of merchandise vending machines that are known as "Mullen Vendors."
